Following the horrific events that have unfolded in Manchester this week Nailsea School staff were provided with information about how to support any students asking questions or feeling particularly affected. The attack was discussed in school as it was obvious it had really resonated amongst the students who had identified with both the circumstances and the victims.

Two Year 10 students, Molly Draper and Rachel Hill felt strongly that they wanted to help and approached staff with their ideas. Staff were more than happy to support the girls who were instrumental in organizing a fundraising event that was held in school on Friday. Just over £750 was raised and all the money will be given to support the families of those who have been directly affected in Manchester. Headteacher Mrs Elliott said "Yet again, I have been overwhelmed by the spirit of the students at Nailsea and feel safe in the knowledge that the young people in our community will leave our doors and do their very best to make the world a better place".
