Wyn Daniel

All at Nailsea School were incredibly sad to hear that former teacher Wyn Daniel had passed away last week. Wyn worked at Nailsea School from 1974 until he retired in 2010. He was Head of Boys PE for many years before becoming Head of PE, a role he carried out with professionalism and passion.

Wyn's successor as Head of PE, Jenny Wild said that "Mr Daniel was a legendary teacher who was well respected. He inspired students to become involved in sport and showed a level of great sportsmanship playing rugby at Yatton Rugby Club. He was a true gentleman and will be sorely missed. He was a teacher that students remember fondly. Our heartfelt thoughts are with his family at this time."

Wyn contributed a great deal to the PE Department at Nailsea School in his time here. Students, staff and parents have been sharing their fond memories of Wyn since his passing and it is clear that everyone remembers his wonderful sense of humour and what a family man he was. The school have opened a book of condolence. Any members of the wider community are welcome to contribute their comments and memories before we pass the book to his wife, a former Nailsea School student and staff member.

The book is being held on reception between 8am – 4pm and then in the Community entrance of the school from 5pm until 9pm.
