HOW WILL YOU BE SUCCESSFUL IN THIS COURSE?

YOU WILL NEED TO TAKE AN INTEREST IN CURRENT AFFAIRS AND POLITICAL ISSUES

This will involve:

- Reading a QUALITY newspaper (such as The Times, Guardian, Telegraph, Independent or their Sunday equivalent); magazines and specific politics journals such as Politics Review as well as the set textbooks. The Spectator, The New Statesman are two weekly publications both online and in hard copy.

- Watching current affairs programmes such as Panorama, Despatches etc. and specific politics programmes such as 'A Week in Politics'.
- Watching the news or listening to 'Today' on Radio 4.
- Listening to podcasts on Spotify, BBC, Castbox, Apple, Spectator etc.
- Discussing and debating political issues with both fellow politics students and others
- Keeping a scrap book of press cuttings on politics and issues

Interest alone is not enough!

You will have to read widely and work hard to understand:

- The institutions and main features of the British system of government and British politics.
- How these work in theory and practice
- The way they interact their strengths and weaknesses
- The way they may change

Continuity is essential: Part-timers are of no use!

You will be given a variety of tasks:

- Reading
- Research
- Short answers
- Stimulus response questions
- Essays.

To ensure quick feedback and a planned workload it is essential that all work is completed by set deadlines.

- Research one pressure group – why is its aim? Who does it represent? What methods has it used to try to get its message across? How successful has it been?

Current Affairs Diary

TASK 2: in addition to these research projects you must also start your current affairs diary in the summer holidays. You will continue to keep this diary throughout your time studying politics in the sixth form.

How to keep a current affairs diary:

1. Each morning you must listen to, watch or read what is going on in the country and make a list of the top three news stories. You can do this whilst you are getting ready in the morning; whilst travelling into school on weekdays; by looking at one of the internet news sites and/or spending some time each day in the school library or at home looking at a newspaper.
2. In your diary make a list of the top three stories, including a brief outline of what has happened.
3. At the end of each week you must select one of these stories and write a short editorial on it. This should include:
 - An objective explanation of the issue. How it has progressed across the week.
 - Opinions from different viewpoints.
 - Your opinion – including where applicable alternative solutions to the problem or issue being criticised.

You will be provided with an exercise book to record your diary in. It is important that this is kept up to date and you bring it to all lessons. It will be collected in at random to check that you are up-to-date. The quality and quantity of work in this diary will form part of your termly skills check and effort scores will be awarded accordingly.

On your return to school in September:

- Copies of the text books. We will get in touch in June with information on how to get copies of the book.
- Your up-to-date current affairs diary
- Your lever-arch folder set up with dividers to cover all the units you will be studying. See p.3 to see how to set out folder. For Year 1, I suggest two different folders, one for UK Politics and one for UK Government. It is likely Mr Jones will teach UK Politics and Mr Reddiford will teach UK Government.
- Provide evidence that you have complete all the research tasks. Do not just copy and paste from the internet, particularly with word definitions – make sure that you really understand everything you write. This may mean that you need to do further research to develop your understanding.

There will be a knowledge and understanding test on your return.

I hope, like me, you are looking forward to studying Politics over the next two years. It is a fascinating and relevant subject (as proven during the Covid 19 lockdown). Take this opportunity to gain as much background knowledge as possible. It really will provide you with an excellent foundation for studying this A Level.

Keep safe. Mr Jones, 30th April 2020
